Pam Whittington

Pam was born in Albuquerque, New Mexico at the base of the Sandia Mountains. She now resides in Snoqualmie at the base of Mount Si on the western margin of Cascade Range. Both mountains have Native American legends explaining their formation and have guided her life in their wondrous shadows.

In her first portion of adult life, Pam was a Civil Engineering/Survey drafter for 24 years. She currently paints with a combination of watercolor, pen and ink. She divides her talents between what she sees, and where she visits and where she lives.

For pure enjoyment, Pam paints her copyrighted Quirky© Women's Series "She Deliberately Chooses to Do So" which depicts the many faceless masks women wear in their daily lives.

Pam lives with her husband, Tim, in a home they built in 1991. Mother of three, Pam is extremely enchanted by her four charming "Grandkiddles". Pam views her life as full of delightful magic!

You can contact Pam by email at Pww2@centurytel.net, by phone at 425-445-4337, or at the Art Gallery of SnoValley.
