

Angelina Allison

Angelina was born and raised in a small town in Eastern Washington and started calling North Bend her home over ten years ago. She's been creating art since the age of 7 and sold her first piece by 12. By the time she turned 18, she's been published in 3 magazines and won numerous certificates of excellence for her high school, which made her valedictorian of her graduating class.

She's participated in many art fairs and street functions, worked as a newspaper graphic designer and for a high-quality magnet company for many years. During this time, she was published in 4 books. Fast forward to today; she is completing her portfolio for the Milan Art Institute Master's Program in Oil and Drawing.

She is finding her voice in her paintings, creating an outstanding portfolio, and developing her website. The future is extremely bright.
